WELCOMING MESSAGE

International investment law is facing a critical time of change at the moment. Once invented as a vehicle to secure protection for capital export of Western powers, investor-state arbitration is now raising concern over policy autonomy of a sovereign state not only in the Third World but also in the First World such as the United States and the European Union. Critical review of current legal system and rebalancing of relevant interests are essential for the creation and firm establishment of a fair and just international investment law for the future. Korean Society of International Economic Law (KSIEL) in cooperation with Korean Commercial Arbitration Board (KCAB) is honored to host this conference and invite distinguished foreign and domestic experts as an effort to contribute to this important mandate of the age.

I welcome all of you.
